Dalmatian Colours

KORNATI ARCHIPELAGO

Le Levant cruises through the heart of the Kornati Islands: several hundred islands and islets, nearly all deserted, rise up out of the sea creating an extraordinarily coloured world amidst crystal clear waters where the seabed seems to be almost gazing up at you.

SIBENIK

The unspoiled beauty of this rugged coastline transforms Sibenik into a giant aquarium. Nearby is Krka, a thousand-year-old town founded by Croatian princes and today a UNESCO World Heritage site.

KOTOR

The lovely fortified town of Kotor is located at the end of a complex series of bays surrounded by limestone massifs in a magnificent region of Montenegro. The landscape here is unrivalled in its beauty.

DUBROVNIK

The walled city of Dubrovnik built on a rock battered by the waves has preserved its architectural heritage, and the numerous palaces, monuments and white stone churches are in perfect harmony. Long considered as a rival to Venice, traces of its illustrious past are to be found throughout the city which is a UNESCO World Heritage site.

HVAR

A mild sunny climate has earned Hvar the epithet "Croatia's Madeira", and is one of the most beautiful islands in the Adriatic. The old town cradled in the bay boasts many remarkable monuments bearing witness to a rich history influenced by Gothic and Renaissance art.

SPLIT

Along the Dalmatian coast, this ancient former imperial residence reveals all: fortified walls, towers, temples, palaces and baths. A museum in itself, Split is a UNESCO World Heritage site and home to Diocletian's famous Palace.

ZADAR

A delightful stop on the Dalmatian Coast, Zadar is the northernmost town in Croatia. The historic centre is built on a well protected peninsula. For a long time the fortified city represented a strategic post on the eastern shores of the Adriatic, which is why it was so coveted by the Venetians and Turks for nearly two centuries.

RAB

This delightful medieval city is an architectural marvel thanks to its many palaces, churches with bell towers and winding alleyways. It is also famous for a fantastic annual Medieval Festival (departure 22/07/10).

ROVINJ

In days gone by, Rovinj was a peaceful fishing port on the Istria Peninsula. Today its picturesque narrow streets lead you down to a marina where fishing boats jostle comfortably alongside modern yachts.

PIRAN

Cultural centre of the Slovenian Riviera, the small yet perfectly formed town of Piran has preserved a medieval atmosphere with its narrow streets and closely packed houses rising in steps from the shore to the top of the hill. A typically Mediterranean view.
